Declaration

We hereby certify that Fennel Essential Oil (Australia) has been reviewed with reference to the International Fragrance Association Code of Practice and IFRA Standards, 51st Amendment.

Fennel Essential Oil is a natural complex substance whose composition may include trans-anethole, estragole, limonene, fenchone, anisaldehyde and other naturally occurring constituents. Any IFRA restrictions applicable to these constituents must be calculated from their actual concentrations in the batch and from their total contribution through all ingredients in the finished formulation.

IFRA Usage Statement

IFRA Categories	Recommendation
Categories 1–12	Use is subject to the applicable IFRA Standards for naturally occurring restricted constituents and to the composition of the specific batch.

Conditions of Conformity

- This statement does not establish one universal maximum use level for every batch.
- Batch-specific GC-MS data should be used to calculate the contribution of restricted constituents.
- The total level of each restricted constituent from all fragrance ingredients must be considered.
- The finished consumer product must comply with the applicable category limits in the IFRA 51st Amendment.
- The manufacturer of the finished fragrance remains responsible for final IFRA compliance.
